

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

I think the current rules requiring the phone companys to give isp access to the phone lines are vital to competition and therefore important to keeping a communications medium open to the customers.

AS a matter of fact, I think that the phone companys are largely abusing their monopoly over the wires currently, and need further oversight.

Sincerely,

jim bohan
868 new mark esplanade
rockville, MD 20850